and the rest of the team may add more later.

BYRUUA was obviously a drive-in tripoint, even though attacked by foot from UA crossing

And here are short summaries from the other tps:

There is no vista and the bushes are so overgrown which made it impossible to see the river from 0001 or 0001 from the river.

The MD guard who took us was very unsure of the point himself, And where MDUA reaches the bank.

Personally I found the tripoint itself quite uninteresting, while the walk there and back was filled with interesting

'borderware' like barbwire, signs, markers, guards, Soviet fences etc.

MDROUAS

We tried a route across the railway which I located on Google Earth, but the road was made undrivable by deep ditches and the railway was impassable with normal car, too. The marker you see is no 1387.

Our rental car was to be returned to Odessa same evening and the group split as some flew back from Odessa while I, Peter Hering and Doug Murray was more adventurous and headed to Galati (RO) via UAMD and MDRU to catch train to Bucharest. Due to short time, and other challenges we agreed we saw the tp from a distance, but of course one day I would like to improve the visit. UAMD was very clearly a straight line heading towards the Danube, with barb fences on each side of the markers.
